Detailed Journal Evaluation Report in the ICI Journals Master List database 2025

„Seminare. Learned Investigations”

ISSN: 2450-1328, 1232-8766

ICV 2025: 100.00

The result of the assessment in the ICI Journals Master List database – the Index Copernicus Value (ICV) – is a measure of the parametric power of a scientific journal. It indicates to what extent the journal meets international standards in the field of key functional areas of this medium of science.

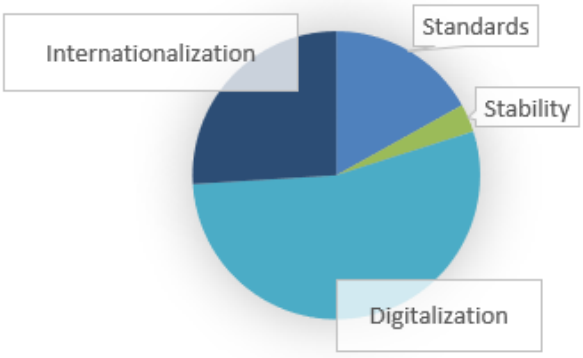

The ICV consists of two main components:

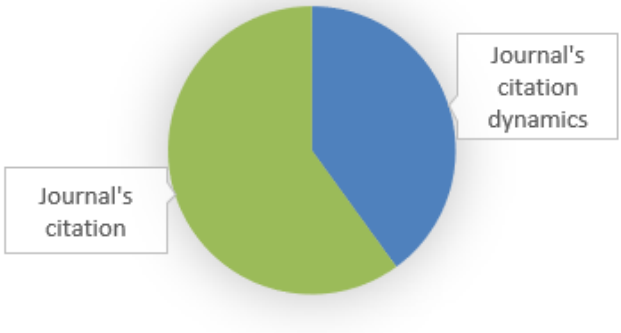

quality of the journal

measured based on fulfilling the criteria of the ICI Publishing Stars model, which is currently focused around two aspects of journal working, namely its digitalisation and internalisation.

journal's impact determined by the analysis of citation trends of journals indexed in Web of Science and Scopus databases, which reflects intensity with which a journal has been recognised in the scientific world.

Punctation

The maximum number of points that a journal can obtain from the entire "quality of the journal" criterion is 100. A journal can also receive negative points (e.g. for delays in publishing or publishing combined issues) – maximum 4 points. Obtaining by a journal an ICV greater than 100 points means that it is indexed in the Web of Science and / or Scopus database and had bibliometric indicators in the two years preceding the year of assessment.

In the evaluation of the ICI Journals Master List 2025 the journal received

100.00 ICV points

(quality of the journal: 114.03 points [max. 100 points] + journal's impact: 0.00 points).
